
Acknowledgements

This book would not have been produced were it not for the vision and dedication of Dr Joseph F. O'Neill, who has worked tirelessly both within the U.S. and internationally to develop policy, produce information and training materials, and support treatment and care programmes for people living with HIV/AIDS and their families and loved ones.

The contributions of many other people also made this guide possible. The book design and layout are the work of Jim Concannon, James Design, Fitchburg, MA, US. Bill Todd, Bow Communications, Frederick, MD, US copyedited the text and created the index. The cover was inspired by the artwork of George Zion Kyakulaga Bisindo from Uganda. The cover art was created by Laura Spofford, Social & Scientific Systems, Silver Spring, MD, US. John-Manuel Andriote, Health and Science Reporting, Washington, DC, US worked with the editorial team on editing the chapters. Alan Gambrell, WordPortfolio, Washington, DC, US provided editorial assistance.

The generous support of the National Hospice and Palliative Care Organization supplemented U.S. funding to make the international collaborative process possible.

Dedication

We dedicate the Guide to the memory of Dame Cicely Saunders, who died in July, 2005. Through her dedication to the care of those with incurable illnesses and their families, she commenced modern palliative care in 1967 with St. Christopher's Hospice, London. Through dedicated research in pain and symptom control and her pursuit of the holistic approach, she was ultimately responsible for this care being made available in Africa in the era of HIV/AIDS.

May we each impart her spirit of hospitality to our patients and families through our use of the information in this book.
