CARINGINFO

Caringinfo, a program of the National Hospice and Palliative Care Organization (NHPCO), is a national consumer engagement initiative to improve care at the end of life.

It's About How You LIVE

It's About How You LIVE is a national community engagement campaign encouraging individuals to make informed decisions about end-of-life care and services. The campaign encourages people to:

- Learn about options for end-of-life services and care
- Implement plans to ensure wishes are honored
- Voice decisions to family, friends and health care providers
- Engage in personal or community efforts to improve end-of-life care

Note: The following is not a substitute for legal advice. While Caringinfo updates the following information and form to keep them up-to-date, changes in the underlying law can affect how the form will operate in the event you lose the ability to make decisions for yourself. If you have any questions about how the form will help ensure your wishes are carried out, or if your wishes do not seem to fit with the form, you may wish to talk to your health care provider or an attorney with experience in drafting advance directives. If you have other questions regarding these documents, we recommend contacting your state attorney general's office.

Using these Materials

BEFORE YOU BEGIN

1. Check to be sure that you have the materials for each state in which you may receive health care.
2. These materials include:
 - Instructions for preparing your advance directive, please read all the instructions.
 - Your state-specific advance directive forms, which are the pages with the gray instruction bar on the left side.

ACTION STEPS

1. You may want to photocopy or print a second set of these forms before you start so you will have a clean copy if you need to start over.
2. When you begin to fill out the forms, refer to the gray instruction bars — they will guide you through the process.
3. Talk with your family, friends, and physicians about your advance directive. Be sure the person you appoint to make decisions on your behalf understands your wishes.
4. Once the form is completed and signed, photocopy the form and give it to the person you have appointed to make decisions on your behalf, your family, friends, health care providers, and/or faith leaders so that the form is available in the event of an emergency.
5. Virginia maintains an Advance Directive Registry. By filing your advance directive with the registry, your health care provider and loved ones may be able to find a copy of your directive in the event you are unable to provide one. You can read more about the registry, including instructions on how to file your advance directive, at <https://www.connectvirginia.org/adr/>.
6. You may also want to save a copy of your form in an online personal health records application, program, or service that allows you to share your medical documents with your physicians, family, and others who you want to take an active role in your advance care planning.

Introduction to Your Virginia Advance Directive

This packet contains a Virginia Advance Directive, which protects your right to refuse medical treatment you do not want or to request treatment you do want in the event you lose the ability to make decisions yourself. You may complete Part I, Part II, Part III, or all parts, depending on your advance-planning needs. You must complete Part IV.

Part I, Appointment and Powers of My Agent, lets you name an adult, your “agent,” to make decisions about your health care—including decisions about life-prolonging procedures—if you can no longer speak for yourself. This is especially useful because it appoints someone to speak for you any time you are unable to make your own medical decisions, not only at the end of life.

Part I goes into effect when your doctor and one other qualified doctor or clinical psychologist certify in writing that you are incapable of making an informed decision regarding health care.

Part II, My Health Care Instructions, lets you state your wishes about health care in the event you cannot speak for yourself, including if you develop a terminal condition or you are in a persistent vegetative state. If you are an organ, eye or tissue donor, your instructions will be applied so as to ensure the medical suitability of your organs, eyes and tissues for donation.

Part II goes into effect when your doctor and one other qualified doctor or clinical psychologist certify in writing that you are incapable of making an informed decision regarding health care and a condition you have given instructions for arises.

Part III allows you to record your organ and tissue donation wishes.

Part IV contains the signature and witnessing provisions so that your document will be effective.

This form does not expressly address mental illness. If you would like to make advance care plans regarding mental illness, you should talk to your physician and an attorney about an advance directive tailored to your needs.

Note: This document will be legally binding only if the person completing it is a competent adult (at least 18 years old).

Completing Your Virginia Advance Directive

How do I make my Virginia Advance Directive legal?

You must sign your advance directive in the presence of two adult witnesses. Any person over the age of 18—including a spouse, other relative, or health care provider—can witness your Virginia Advance Directive.

Whom should I appoint as my agent?

Your agent is the person you appoint to make decisions about your health care if you become unable to make those decisions yourself. Your agent may be a family member or a close friend whom you trust to make serious decisions. The person you name as your agent should clearly understand your wishes and be willing to accept the responsibility of making health care decisions for you.

You can appoint a second person as your alternate agent. The alternate will step in if the first person you name as an agent is unable, unwilling, or unavailable to act for you.

Should I add personal instructions to my Virginia Advance Directive?

One of the strongest reasons for naming an agent is to have someone who can respond flexibly as your health care situation changes and deal with situations that you did not foresee. If you add instructions to this document it may help your agent carry out your wishes, but be careful that you do not unintentionally restrict your agent's power to act in your best interest. In any event, be sure to talk with your agent about your future medical care and describe what you consider to be an acceptable "quality of life."

What if I change my mind?

You may revoke your Virginia Advance Directive at any time by:

- signing and dating a written revocation,
- physically cancelling or destroying your document, or directing another to do so in your presence, or
- orally expressing your intent to revoke the document.

Your revocation becomes effective when you notify your attending physician.

Also, make certain that you file any updates or changes to your Virginia Advance Directive with the Virginia registry.

What other important facts should I know?

You may expressly provide in your Advance Directive that, in the event you are incapable of making an informed health care decision, your agent may authorize or withhold health care over your objection. In order for this provision to be effective, the following must occur:

1. You must name an agent in your Advance Directive;
2. You must specify the treatments to which this provision applies;
3. Your physician or licensed clinical psychologist must attest in writing at the time your Advance Directive is made that you are capable of making an informed decision and understand the consequences of the provision;
4. The health care decision does not involve withholding or withdrawing life-prolonging procedures; and
5. The health care that is to be provided, continued, withheld or withdrawn is determined and documented by your attending physician to be medically appropriate and is otherwise permitted by law.

If you decide to include language regarding care given over your objection, you may wish to speak with your health care provider or an attorney with experience in drafting advance directives regarding this language. Any such language may be included in Part I, No. 11 of your Virginia Advance Directive.

Your agent does not have the authority to consent to nontherapeutic sterilization, abortion, or psychosurgery.

You Have Filled Out Your Health Care Directive, Now What?

1. Your Virginia Advance Directive is an important legal document. Keep the original signed document in a secure but accessible place. Do not put the original document in a safe deposit box or any other security box that would keep others from having access to it.
2. Give photocopies of the signed original to your agent and alternate agent, doctor(s), family, close friends, clergy, and anyone else who might become involved in your health care. If you enter a nursing home or hospital, have photocopies of your document placed in your medical records.
3. Be sure to talk to your agent(s), doctor(s), clergy, family, and friends about your wishes concerning medical treatment. Discuss your wishes with them often, particularly if your medical condition changes.
4. Virginia maintains an Advance Directive Registry. By filing your advance directive with the registry, your health care provider and loved ones may be able to find a copy of your directive in the event you are unable to provide one. You can read more about the registry, including instructions on how to file your advance directive, at <http://www.connectvirginia.org/adr/>.
5. You may also want to save a copy of your form in an online personal health records application, program, or service that allows you to share your medical documents with your physicians, family, and others who you want to take an active role in your advance care planning.
6. If you want to make changes to your documents after they have been signed and witnessed, you must complete a new document.
7. Remember, you can always revoke your Virginia document.
8. Be aware that your Virginia document will not be effective in the event of a medical emergency. Ambulance and hospital emergency department personnel are required to provide cardiopulmonary resuscitation (CPR) unless they are given a separate directive that states otherwise. These directives called "prehospital medical care directives," "do not resuscitate orders," or "physician orders for scope of treatment (POST)" are designed for people whose poor health gives them little chance of benefiting from CPR. These directives instruct ambulance and hospital emergency personnel not to attempt CPR if your heart or breathing should stop.

Currently not all states have laws authorizing these orders. We suggest you speak to your physician if you are interested in obtaining one. Caringinfo does not distribute these forms.
